poem by Edwin M. McMahon

Hold fast to dreams
For if dreams die
Life is a broken-winged bird
That cannot fly.

Hold fast to dreams
For when dreams go
Life is a barren field
Frozen with snow.

A New School Year Begins, Filled With New Hopes and Dreams

1973--A Year of Many Memories

Hi
Cindy

If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away.

—Henry David Thoreau

With damp eyes I stared to the room
Where my friends and I spent many an afternoon,
Where we together weathered many a storm
Laughing and singing till the early hours of the morn.

With haunted hearts through the heat and cold,
We never thought we could get very old
We thought we could sit forever
in fun
Though our chances really were a million to one.

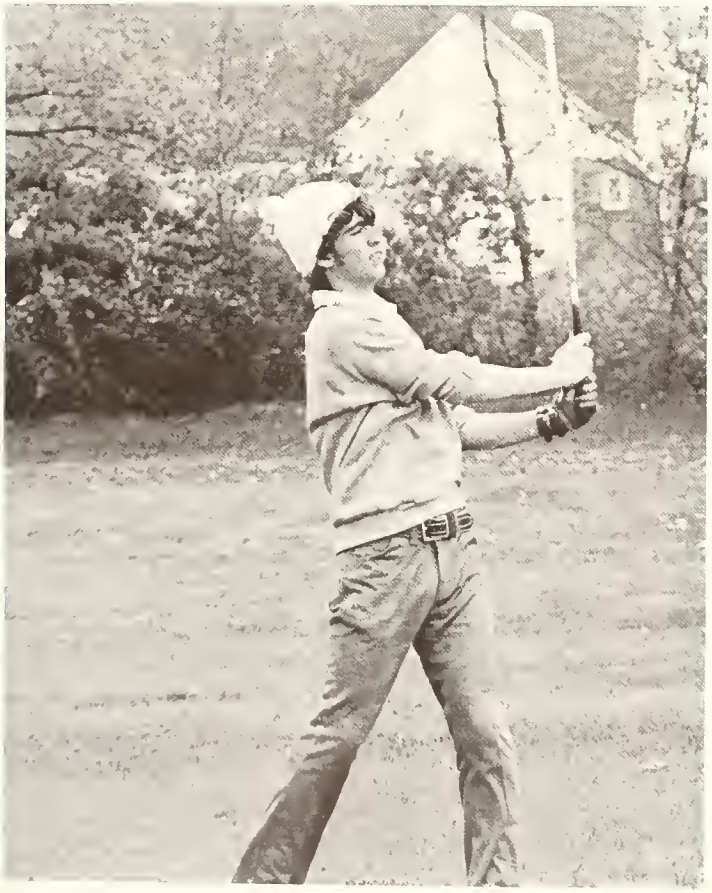
—Bob Dylan



I have no yesterdays,
Time took them away;
Tomorrow may not be--
But I have Today.

—Pearl McGinnis

Fall

Reflections on the water like shadows in my mind

Speak to me of passing days and nights and passing time

The falling leaves are whispering winter's on its way

I close my eyes remembering the warmth of yesterday.

It seems a shame to see September swallowed by the wind

And more than that it's oh so sad to see the summer end

And though the changing colors are a lovely thing to see

If it were mine to make the change I think I'd let it be

But I don't remember hearing anybody asking me.

—John Denver

The Trojan harriers start

Cross Country Team Effort

Training for cross-country begins early, even before the school year commences. This year's harriers began their official practices on August 14, although many members ran all summer. Evidence of their hard work is their record, both collectively and individually.

As a team, the dual meet record of 4 wins and 6 losses does not begin to show how much they worked. The fifth place finish in the AAA Sectional and third place finish in the Buckeye Conference adds to the display of determination.

Although most of the times were slower than usual due to very poor weather and course conditions, the five best times of Craig Line: 9:55; Harry Yoxtheimer: 10:33; Steve Otto: 10:37; Mark Stoffel: 10:39; and Scott Line: 10:40; excel those of any previous team's top five runners. Sophomores played a determining factor in many meets. Yoxtheimer, Scott Line, and Bill Hover, all first year lettermen, were an integral part in the winning meets.

Taking a great many honors this year and representing Findlay in the state meet was Craig Line, team captain. Throughout the season, Line compiled a personal dual meet record of 10 wins and one loss, along with breaking the home course record at Hillcrest with a time of 10:05. He won the Buckeye Conference meet even after a fall; turned in a finish of fourth in the Sectional; a sixth in the District; and the best finish of anyone from Findlay—a tenth place at the state meet in Columbus. A three year letterman, Line was also voted Most Valuable.

Steve "Mouse" McBrien was given the Most Dedicated award, a true honor. Another highlight of the evening occurred when Coach Didich was presented with his own personal turtle.

With 8 returning lettermen, Coach John Didich, in his fifth season, is already planning to take the team to state next year. Leading the team will be Mark Stoffel, team captain.

The 1972 football team began daily practice on the fifteenth of August, after a pre-season physical fitness program was completed. The training sessions began increasing until three daily ones were held. The gridders attempted to sleep between these hour-long practices, for a well-needed rest.

With only three returning senior lettermen, Hodges, Meyer, and Hippensteel, it was soon evident that inexperience would plague the team. A new arrival from Colorado, Harry Hall, appeared to be a hopeful player.

Three pre-season scrimmages were played and it was during one of these games that senior quarterback Curt Hippensteel broke his arm. He was out for eight weeks. With much of its offensive punch gone, the Trojans struggled throughout the remainder of the season in trying to move the ball. There were times when the young Trojans moved the ball very well behind the strong running of Harry Hall, but in many cases they could not get the ball over the goal line.

During December Head Coach Bob Bockrath resigned to accept a coaching post in Arizona. After five seasons as head mentor, he has compiled a won-lost record of 21-29. Coach Bill Jones has been named new head to deal with twenty returning lettermen for next year's season.

Although this year's football team may not be remembered in the rec books, they should be remembered for their efforts.

Coach Bockrath expressed his feelings about the season's finish at t banquet. He stated that he believed seven of the eight losses came to bet teams ability-wise. Still, the gridders spent summer working out, practiced season, and gave their best on the field every game.

Recognition was given in a different way this year to outstanding playe Terry McGuire, Junior fullback and defensive back was given the Tro Club award for meeting certain performance standards established by coaching staff. McGuire met the standards seven of the ten weeks. Bockr cited Doug Kelsey, Tom Meyer, Jack Firestone, and Jeff Bury for outsta ing defensive efforts. Thirty-eight members of the team and three manag earned letters this year.

l Trojan injury list included Tom Meyer, Tom McKinnel, Curt Hippen-l, and Keith Wonderly, all seniors.

President, Jim Wolf, presides over a meeting.

During Student Council meetings many beneficial things were accomplished. The eighteen foot art sculpture designed and built in the outer courtyard by Mr. Trapp, was passed unanimously. The Student Council supported the CKLW High School of the year contest. A great sense of unity was achieved through this contest. Student Council also achieved other valuable things such as Civic II Day, holding class elections and Student Council elections, giving money to Niki Jefferies, revising the handbook, devising mini courses, helping sponsor Contrasts, collaborating on articles for the Republican Courier on the shop area, holding a November mock election, bringing in a singer and a karate expert for assemblies, revising the Hall of Fame, making frisbees available to students at lunch, filling in parking lot holes, putting up Christmas trees, and sending poinsettias to elderly shut-ins. Sometimes Student Council wondered if it could ever please everyone. "Fragments of thoughts, combined new ideas, fused in the heart of debates over large and small issues, and suddenly we know our own minds!" The FHS Marching Band this year presented "The Band with Stereophonic Sound and Sore Feet." The entire band, consisting of one hundred fifty-two bandsmen, started their preparation for the season during the week of August 28. Throughout this week, better known as "H-week", the crew drilled six hours a day. During the football season, band practiced two and a half hours daily for the weekend's half time show and presented a total of six different shows. The last show was the Senior Show, written entirely by seniors. The show was titled "What We Believe." The 1972-73 Marching Band was under the direction of Cliff Hite, George Amend, and Jim Mitchell. Head majorettes for the season were Linda Flavell and Julie Benedict. Kevin Reddick and Mike Malloy served as head drummers. Band officers were President, Jon Stealy; Vice-President, Mike Malloy; Secretary-Treasurer, Doug Senn; and Social Chairman, Bruce Miles.

New experience seemed to be the theme for the Majorettes as the year began with the selection of two head majorettes, Julie Benedict and Linda Flavell. The two girls along with senior Kathy Thomas; juniors, Kim Cleary, Cindy Malloy, Carole Sherman; and sophomores Vicki Ice, Carol Mauer, and Debbie Shaffer made many varied and unique half-time performances, with novelty batons and routines. The girls worked together during the summer to earn the money to purchase the batons, which were then donated to the band. The majorettes practiced twice a week all summer, during band week, and with the band every day after school. Nancy Althaus served as advisor.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND is the first children's production in recent FHS history. Children's Theater presented a real challenge for the Drama Club because of the very different type of production required. Color, movement, and music were the three very basic necessities. The cast, under the direction of Barbara Gebhardt and Student Directors Brad Currie, Edie Bowman, and Chris Dillon scored a hit in their first production of the season.

Tom Brown is absorbed in explanation.

Jim Runkle, like most FHS math teachers, is patient and eager to answer questions.

Mathematics Is

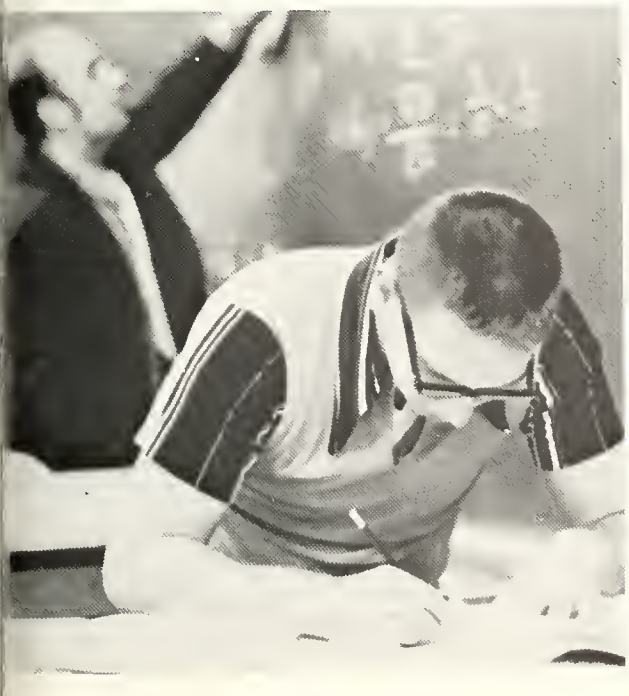
Math is often downright frustrating!

The setting of the library mural serves as a good place for a teacher conference with M Donaldson.

Patience overcomes in the end for Connie Endres.

Brad Westall and Terry Sheridan breeze through geometry.

A Test of Persistence

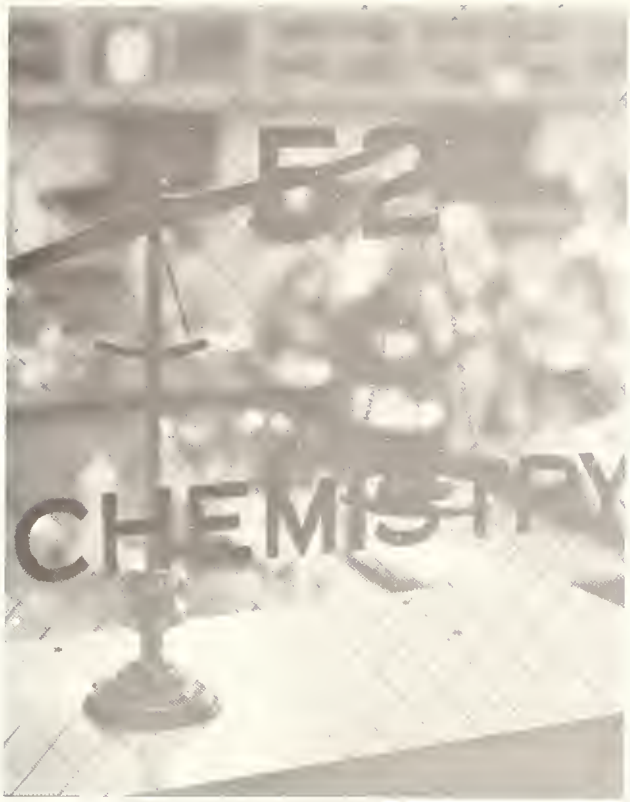


The exhaustion of accomplishment . . . . . .

The Mathematics Department is indeed fortunate for the wide field of courses offered. By state requirements, one credit in math is necessary for graduation. Many have asked the cause of such a demand. The same will no doubt be glad for the requirement when they can balance their budget, file income tax, or buy the right amount of cement, when building their swimming pool. Math is fundamental. Courses such as geometry, algebra, and trigonometry provide the background for future engineers and architects. Other classes furnish fundamentals for students entering the field of medicine, such as calculus.

Within all these math courses, studies of unusual topic arise, and the question is inevitably asked, "When will we ever use this?" Often a math teacher is forced to admit that actually, the particular studies will be of little further use. Yet without a doubt, these studies are great thinking exercises. They exercise our brain, and develop our persistence. Although many times, math becomes frustrating, and trying beyond bear, these same frustrations evolve to satisfaction, when determination and perseverance overpower.

Test Tubes & Microscopes Expand Minds



Chemistry shows students the value of science.

Experimentation is one way to learn.

As far as a science program is concerned, Findlay High excels. Three different divisions of science are offered. Students may choose from biology, chemistry, and physics.

Both the biology and chemistry curriculum include a possible two year program. Biology I is designed so that a pupil becomes more aware of the living things around him, especially through insect collections and dissections. The second year course, Biology II, is considered a college level course. The course is structured for those who desire a more detailed study of the subject. Major units include vertebrate anatomy and botany. Chemistry I tries to show students the increasing importance of science in all areas. The principles of chemistry are developed through an experimental approach within the laboratory. The second year course is designed for those students wishing to extend this knowledge even further, while working for personal achievement as well.

Physics is a fundamental science. Investigating problems and experimenting constitute much of the class time. Students are expected to become adept in the use of the slide rule and read widely in fields closely allied with the text.

This was the right way to register, but did anyone do it that way?

The 1972 Mock Election at Findlay High School v held for two major reasons. First, to give the stude body an idea of the basic voting procedure. And secor to determine how many students would take part. T American Government classes set up a very true-to-l election. Mr. Slough's class carried out the registrati phase. Mr. Bell's classes were responsible for publiciz and campaigning. Mr. Bowden's class carried out the b of the election duties: setting up voting booths, work the polls, and printing and counting ballots.

Of the approximate 2,100 students eligible to vo 894 registered. Of these, 726 students actually voted. was expected, the results of our mock election parallel the national and area returns.

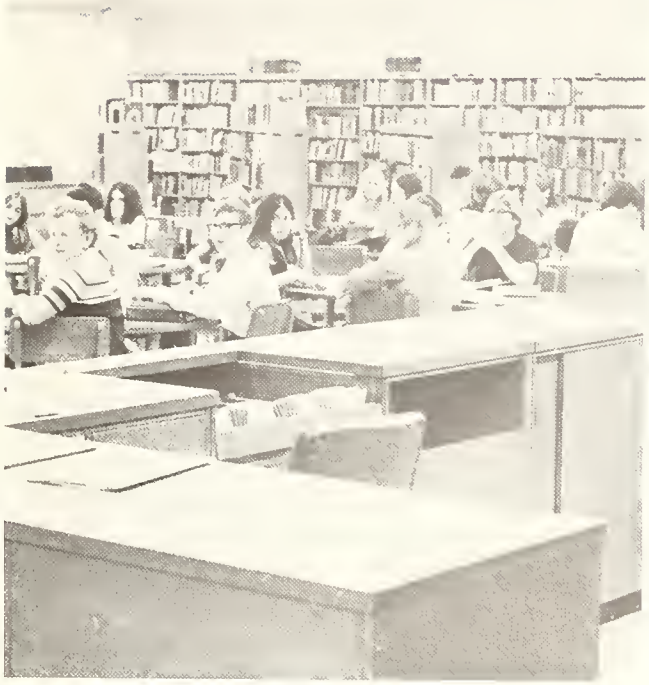
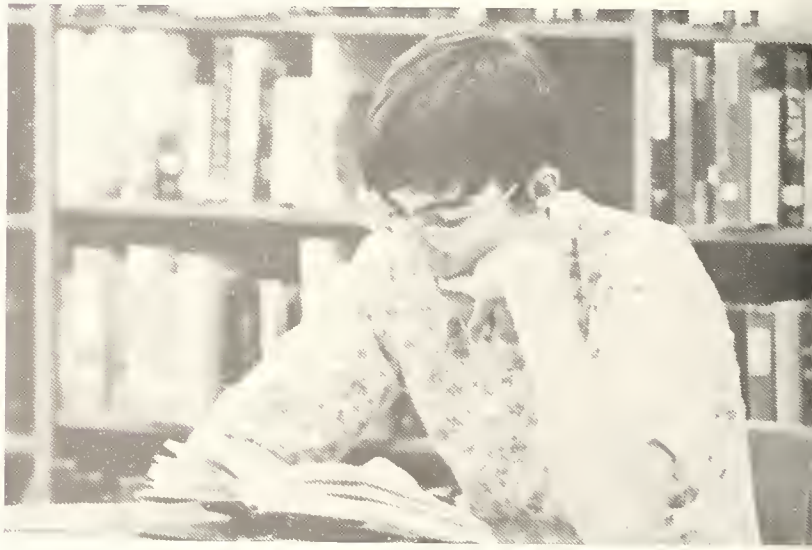
17,600 Volumes Lend Themselve



Annually, sophomores are informed of library procedures.

"Hey Becky, I heard you missed a half point on your chemistry exam; too bad."



The quiet atmosphere permits a student to become engrossed in his work.

As most students have found, the FHS Library is an excellent source of information. The library shelves house over 17,000 volumes, including fictional and nonfictional works. In addition, there are over 1,750 periodicals available, dating back nearly ten years. This abundant collection is compiled of more than ninety different magazine subscriptions. Mrs. March and Mrs. Holmes, full time librarians, are always at hand and quite happy to assist students. Mrs. Fenimore, part time librarian, along with twenty student assistants checkout books and tend to other formalities. During the second six weeks period, 16,000 students used the library facilities, a record high.

The resource center at Findlay High School is provided to give students a place, the materials, and the environment in which to pursue independent and group study in the areas of language arts, social studies, science, and mathematics. Many forms of media, print and nonprint, are available: films, filmstrips, records, transparencies, tapes, pictures, and pamphlets, along with 600 books. Mrs. Seiler, resource center librarian, is equally happy to assist students in their research.

Mrs. March is always ready and willing to assist students.

"Now actually students, English isn't all that bad," says Mr. Stewart.

Kent Dierskheide: "I wonder if Mark Spitz took contemporary lit?"

The English Curriculum at Findlay High School offers opportunities to many individual needs. There are four general tracks into which students may be categorized: track one is the honors courses offered for those students who have a keen interest in English who, based on past performances, have excelled in this area; track two has been planned to provide extra training desirable for college preparation; track three provides a strong general program to meet the social and economic demands of living in the modern free society and track four provides a basic program for those experiencing deficiencies in English. The English teachers at FHS use different techniques, yet all strive to help the student better communicate or understand that which others have expressed. In our modern, predominately English-speaking country, 'knowing the language' is a good beginning towards involvement.

The 1972-73 Trojan basketball team began the season with only one returning letterman. They weren't "supposed" to win half of their games, due to very little playing experience.

The season began slowly with two home wins and then two losses away. The roundballers struggled through the mistakes of inexperience, but midway through the season, something clicked. Team effort improved and a Junior Varsity player was brought up to the Varsity team. The team won three in a row, then five of their next seven games. Perhaps the greatest win of these was the Mansfield game at home. A Findlay free throw hit the basket with 14 seconds left, winning a close 57-56 contest. The Trojans finished regular season play with a 12-6 mark after showing signs of fine improvement in the latter half of the season.

TOURNAMENTS! After the seemingly "annual" Lima Senior drawing, the Trojans were on their way. Handily defeating Lima in a 75-66 battle, the team shot an amazing 63% from the field. Longberry was the standout with 27 points and 20 rebounds. With the entire squad scoring, FHS won another one 66-48, against Marion. In a hectic game against Mansfield Senior, the Trojans, in the last 15 seconds, won 55-53. Coach Stozich called it "a courageous comeback." The win sent the Findlay roundballers into district finals against Galion. In a 65-54 contest with Galion, the Trojans won their first district title in 22 years. Dysinger and Hamlin were praised for their excellent pressure applied to the opponents. The season ended with a close 45-41 loss to Newark.

Longberry, Dysinger, Inbody and Hipsher keep their eyes on the ball.

Each year Coach Bill Lobb has the difficult task of choosing a Junior Varsity basketball squad composed of eligible boys from three junior high squads. This year he obviously made the right decisions as the team compiled a 10-7 record for the season.

Besides keeping up with their school work, each member of the team was required to attend regular practices.

During practices and games, each member of the basketball squad put forth his best effort so that they might be selected for the Varsity Squad next year.

Although few in number, the 1972-73 swim team strove to finish the season in a fashionable manner. Under new coach Bob Newell with a thirteen-man line-up at the season's beginning, things looked difficult, but the guys kept practicing and traveling to meets.

Times improved weekly, finally culminating in an excellent showing in the tough Buckeye Conference meet at Mansfield. The Trojans finished third with 40 points, behind Sandusky and Marion Harding. The Findlay team accomplished a great morale booster by defeating Fremont Ross, a team that had beaten them earlier in the season. The tankers took three first places: Dirk Ewing-diving, Nick Burke-50 yard freestyle and Mark Monday-100 yard breast stroke. Also contributing to the third place pointage were second place finishers Rick Daugherty in the 100 yard butterfly and the 200 yard medley relay of Daugherty, Burke, Nacho Sarmina, and Dan Menery.

In the next important meet, Districts, Nick Burke was the lone Findlay High swimmer to qualify for the State meet in Columbus. He finished third in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 23.3. At Columbus, Burke finished 15th in his respective event.

Letters and other special awards for the 1972-73 season were presented at the team banquet. Nick Burke was given the High Point Award. By a team vote, Mark Monday was selected the Most Valuable Swimmer and Doug Marshall was designated "Most Improved". Three year letterman awards were presented to seniors Rick Daugherty, Dirk Ewing, and team captain, Gary Wittenmyer.

The Trojan wrestling team, consisting of 40 members this year, posted an improved record of 7-5 for the 1972-73 season. Outstanding performances by senior, Tom Meyer and sophomore, Jay Liles added to the overall team effort and determination displayed throughout the year.

Coach Frank DeFrench, in his second year, and Coach Terry Heater directed the grapplers to a season of improvement.

Findlay was especially tough at the lower weights this year. Jay Liles, a strong sophomore wrestler, added to this toughness. Liles accumulated a 24-3 win-loss record during the season. Besides wrestling to a first in Sectionals in the 98 weight division, he also hustled to take second place in the District contest and an individual championship in the Marion Tournament. Liles earned a place in the State meet, but was defeated in the first round. Along with the fine season in which Liles earned his first letter, he was also honored at the team banquet with the Most Valuable Wrestler award.

"Moby" also won Buckeye Conference and Marion Tournament championship matches. At the team banquet, senior Meyer was awarded his third letter, the Most Pins and the Most Takedowns honors.

Also, at the banquet, letters were given to 13 team members. First year lettermen included Jay Liles, Jeff Hunter, Bill Rehm, Scott Duncan, Dave Beach and John Schramm. Second year awards were presented to John Roether, Jim Motter, Gary Weisenberger, Steve Riffle, and Mark Oleszczak. Tom Meyer and Tim Schultz were awarded with 3 year letterman trophies.

The purpose of Pepper Club is to create school spirit by supporting the basketball team and also to contribute to the character of FHS. This became very controversial as an article was done on the club in the newspaper. The girls practiced every Tuesday evening and Thursday morning. Pepper Club sponsored the Winter Formal and also awarded the "best row of the night" to the most deserving row every game. The award is a malt or pop and potato chips at half time. Spirit Club is an organization designed to promote spirit among the student body for athletic teams. The night before a game or meet would be spent by members decorating lockers, painting signs, making cookies for team members and decorating the locker rooms and cars. "Spirit Weeks" were also sponsored by the club to promote spirit. Special money making projects were the sponsoring of the Homecoming Dance and making Valentine Cards for Valentine's Day. Findlay Trojans wastepaper baskets and Trojan badges were sold for spirit. Officers were Deb Stahl, President; Lu Autullo, Vice President; and Lisa Smith, Treasurer.

Dance and Concert Bands Give

Every year for the past thirty years, the Findlay High School music department presents its Concert Band in its Mid-Winter production of "Bandtasia". This year, the program began with "Our National Anthem". Other selections were "New York Suite", "Symphony No. 5I/2", "O Cool is the Valley", and "Variations on a Korean Folk Song". Bandtasia turned out well. The band officers are President, Jon Stealy; Vice-President, Mike Malloy; Secretary-Treasurer, Doug Senn; and Social Chairman, Bruce Miles. The Concert Band has several events or concerts during the year. One of the many concerts given was the Grand Finale Concert in May.

Lucius declares his love for Melody

On January 19-20, the Drama Club produced "The Curse of an Aching Heart." It was a hilarious melodrama, complete with the hero tied to the railroad tracks, the villain twirling his moustache, and the heroine's dark past revealed.

Directed by Mrs. Barbara Gebhardt, the play was a challenge to everyone involved. The play used an entirely different method of acting since the purpose in a melodrama is to upstage the other performers. The cast members accomplished their goal well at least if the audiences' reaction was any clue. Many commented that it was one of the best plays in FHS history.

Besides their two regular performances, the cast also entertained visiting AFS students. They, too, liked the change of pace.

Leading roles were played by: Becky Livingstone as the enchanting heroine; Dennis Slough as the faltering hero; Brad Currie as the sinister villain; Mary Ann Powell as the wife of Ralph Berry the farmer who owns the setting of the play; and Beth Rooney as the well intentioned Battle Axe Annie. Fern Decker, Pat Conine, Ron Young, and Anne Brannigan had supporting roles. Student Directors were Kim Carty, Hilary Plews, and Kitten Walsh.

Since two credits of social studies are required by the State Board of Education, the history hall of FHS is a well traveled pathway. Yet, with the many courses offered, the requirement is not so tedious. In addition to World and American History and World and American Government, courses such as Sociology, Economics, Social Problems, World Affairs, World Religion, and Psychology are taught. Each social studies class covers its particular course topic in detail, and in most cases goes further for more extensive study. For example, the American Government classes conducted the mock political election: the Psychology classes attended a two hour lecture and demonstration of hypnosis by Dr. Bair; and Mr. Bell's World Affairs classes battle weekly for the college bowl title, which deals with world and national events. (Why, just ask any World Affairs student where birds lay their eggs in Australia, they'll tell you. Ask any history student how they like their class, and they'll no doubt answer, despite the work, "It's Okay!")

Non-vocational business education courses are offered under the regular program at the 10th, 11th, and 12th grade levels. The main objective, being first, to provide a background in fundamentals for the student planning to attend business school or to take specialized courses beyond high school; second, to provide at least one reserve marketable skill and personal-use skills for college preparatory students, and third, to provide exploratory courses for the student who needs to determine a sufficient interest and aptitude in this area to continue in an advanced level program. Courses in the Regular Business Program range from Bookkeeping, Business Law, Consumer Economics, Record Keeping and Salesmanship to Shorthand and Typewriting.

The Intensive Program is a two year, pre-employment, in-school program, starting at the 11th grade level. Under this program individuals are tested to determine ability and then are placed in secretarial jobs in the community.

Little do many of us realize the broadness of the Home Arts Department at FHS. One exception is the gals taking advantage of the vast opportunities in the program. Home Arts II and III deal with care and selection of clothing, and hense involve the construction of several garments. An advanced class is offered along these same lines. Home Arts IV is designed for girls wishing to specialize in the area of foods. It includes serving, preparing foods, selecting foods for children, and entertaining. Gourmet Foods develops the appreciation for fine food. Units in this course include specialties with meats and seafood, and emphasis in serving and garnishing. Child Development is another favorite of many senior girls. The course teaches girls to understand and work with children. And finally, a college preparatory course, Home Management, begins with establishing a home after high school, a look at temporary marriages, and child development. Home Arts certainly does provide prospects for the future.

Technical vocational education is an elective training that is available in the junior and senior years. All training has the goal of preparing the student to enter the "world of work." A vocational course provides four periods of actual shop experience each day and two periods of class study. Workbooks are often used. Areas offered include Welding, Machine, Electronics, Carpentry, and Auto Trades. The final project of the year is building a home utilizing the talents of all classes. In addition to all this, the Shop wing of FHS plays a vital role in the traditional musicals and proms. For without their talents, the scenery for both events would be extremely altered. Also tickets are printed in FHS's own printing shop, including this year's prom and many others. And even the school's election policies would be hindered without the famous paper-cutter. Many have come to realize the important facilities the study of Trades provide for our growing school and community.

Different scenes of Winter Memories transformed the Findlay High School cafeteria into a snow-laden fantasyland. The Pepper Club, in its first effort in sponsoring a dance, made an excellent showing. Placed throughout the dance floor were scenes of winter, from a snowball fight to a child opening the Christmas presents under the decorated tree. Another scene included a fireplace complete with a rocking chair and Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls. The creative scenes, in combination with the lingering holiday spirit, provided stimulus for remembering.

Ana Capri, a rock group from Columbus, provided music for the formal evening affair with eighty couples in attendance.

With much help from their committees, the following chairmen assisted in creating the "memories": Laurie McGregor, general and chaperones; MaryAlice Hart, decorations; Syd Thomas, publicity; Gwen Myers, refreshments and servers; and Nancy Whitacre, tickets. Special thanks were extended to chaperones, Mr. John Kaylor and date. All in all, the holiday season was brightened for many by this merry occasion.

GAA and Girls' Athletic Teams

The 1972-73 Girls' Varsity Basketball team carried a fine 6-2 win-loss record at the end of their eight game season. The team averaged 37.1 points per game to their opponents' 30.1 point average. Nancy Gray, junior, was top scorer with 86 points for the season. She also was the highest scorer with 18 points in one game. Miss Bole was again the Varsity Coach.

The Junior Varsity team, coached by student teacher, Kay McGarvey, worked to a final season record by five wins and three losses. Both teams practiced two to three times a week, perfecting the team workings.

Under the leadership of gym teacher, Miss Kennedy, the Girls' Gymnastic team placed well in meets. The twelve member team practiced hard and participated in two meets.

In a seven team invitational meet at Lima Shawnee, Findlay gymnasts took eight places in four events. Francie Stozich and Beth Hall took first and second place respectively in the Balance Beam competition. Two firsts were taken by Carol Mauer and Beth Hall in the Vault. Jane Martin won a second place in that event also. Francie Stozich was the only FHS finisher in the Uneven Parallel Bars with a second place. Jenny Wittenmyer, first, and Carol Mauer, second, both made excellent showings in the Floor Exercises.

At the District Meet against 16 other high schools, only two sophomore team members placed. Jenny Wittenmyer finished sixth in Floor Exercises and finishing an excellent second in the Vault, Beth Hall qualified for the State Meet.

The Girl's Athletic Association (GAA), an old organization of FHS has been revitalized. Miss Bole, gym teacher and girls' basketball coach, aided by Miss Kennedy, has reinstated the club this year. The organization has also provided newer skills to learn than a regular gym class and also the opportunity for girls gym class and also the opportunity for girls who aren't taking gym to participate in sports.

Many options are available to members. By being GAA member, one can participate on any team of their choice. Those sports offered are intramural flag football and softball, intramural and interscholastic volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, tennis, and track.

Did you ever realize the need and reward of making sick people better? A nurse does, and this is one of the characteristics of a good nurse. Through FNA (Future Nurses Association) a better understanding was reached by investigating the field of nursing. Some projects done to achieve this were taking trips to visit hospitals and schools of nursing, candy-striping at the hospital, and also giving a food basket to a needy family at Easter. Loans of approximately $50,000.00 for one or two students who are going on to nursing school are also secured through FNA.

Each year the American Legion chooses students all over the state to represent their school for a week at Boys' or Girls' State. There, the American governmental functions of each level of state government and the political parties that accompany it are put into use. This is done so that more will realize their individual role as a thinking, concerned citizen.

Not pictured: Dave Brown, second, radio advertising.

Through the leadership and guidance of Mr. Taylor and Mr. Hayes, DECA improved greatly and accomplished much this year. The purpose of DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is to develop future leaders in marketing and distribution. In class, things such as sales demonstrations, job interviews, displays, and investments are covered. Some activities this year were a buying trip to Chicago during Easter Vacation, a bowling party, leadership conferences, contests, and the employer-employee banquet besides the jobs everyone had. These people are the backbone of the future business world. Findlay's DECA received top honors at B.G. District Contests; so, as far as Findlay's DECA, the business world has a growing future.

Mr. Taylor's group (left to right)-Seated: Pam Lozier, Marsha Gatchell, Linda Smith, Vicki Rozelle, Kathy Schmitz, Rijetta Fracker. The AFS Club sponsors one or more exchange students every year. They raise the money for this by selling AFS stock at the beginning of each school year. The club's goal is to create world understanding and friendship. Our exchange student for this year was Hilary Plews from England. Hilary apparently decided to make this a very worthwhile year by getting involved in as many activities as possible. Hilary's favorite was drama. She participated in the annual FHS musical which was "Fiddler on The Roof." She also had a role in the drama club's production of "Alice in Wonderland" and was student director of "The Curse of the Aching Heart." For each student who is sent here, the AFS Club sends one of our students abroad. This year that student was Keith Janosik. Keith was sent to Costa Rica in February of 1973 and stayed for one year. Keith's town was the unfortunate victim of an earthquake, but FHS students helped with a drive to replace many of the items he and others lost in the disaster. The AFS Club, with a little help from the students at FHS, came a little closer to reaching their goals this year.

rincipal, Glen Charles, spoke chiefly on school policies.

Most sessions started with a brief lecture and then opened for questions.

The Narcotics Officer was a popular speaker.

Once again, Civic II Day proved to be a very worthwhile project on the part of Student Council. Many of the suggestions from the questionnaires filed after last year's Civic II Day were put to use in coordinating the event. Six, forty minute sessions were held during the two days. Speakers were a little fewer in number, yet from more interesting civic occupations. Students selected the particular field of their interest. From that point, Student Council members, under chairman of scheduling, Dave Rooney, labored many long hours, even sacrificing term papers, to put students in their desired sessions. Though it was impossible to please everyone, most seemed satisfied.

Lisa Phillips took charge of providing student guides for the many guests, ranging from such occupations as City Council and Highway Patrol, to authorities from WFIN and Marathon.

J. C. Borckardt, general chairman, deserves an extra hand of applause. Despite the absence of two speakers, the event ran smoothly and was reported, "much better than last year."

Everything that's cold and gray is gone

Open up your hands and feel the rain come down

Taste the wind and smell the flowers' sweet perfume

Open up your mind and let the light come in

The earth has been reborn and life goes on.

Almost Every Event

Cold and wet weather prevailed throughout the track season. The thinclads persevered and finished with an 8-1 dual meet record and placed high in many championships and large relay meets. In the Sectional Meet, seven tracksters qualified for Districts. The 880 Relay Team of Wonderly, Jim Wells, Peiffer and Sterling took first place, then fourth at Districts. The Trojan Mile Relay squad of Robinson, Siudzinski, Wells and Peiffer; Beams in the 880 and Sterling in the 220, also finished in the top three to qualify for Districts.

A total of 18 records, 12 outdoor and 10 indoor, were broken or tied this year. Outstanding performances by individuals included: Doug Robinson tied the 50 yard dash, 1000 yard run-Tom Reamsnyder, Two Mile Run-Craig Line, and Pole Vault-Dave Bay. (all indoor) Outdoor records included: 440 Relay-Sterling, Peiffer, Wittenmyer, Wonderly, Medley Relay-Hover, Sterner, Alexander, C. Line, 330 Intermediate Hurdles-Arrington, Triple Jump-Brown, Spring Medley Relay, Long Jump Relay-Huff, Alexander, Brown, Distance Medley Relay Two Mile Run-C. Line, S. Line, S. Otto, 880 Relay, Discus Relay-Cunningham, Firestone, Sheidler, 7 Step 480 Yard Shuttle Hurdle Relay-Huff, McGuire, Thomas, Arrington, and the 880 Relay broke the Shawnee Relays meet record.

The only Buckeye Conference Individual Champion for Findlay was Craig Line in the Two Mile Run. Keith Wonderly had the top times for the 100 yard dash and the 220. He was also named Most Valuable, High Point Man, and received a three year award. Sophomore Mike Peiffer was Second High Point Man with 146 points, making him a new sophomore record holder. Steve Cunningham received the Most Improved and two year awards. Jack Firestone and Gary Wittenmyer, seniors, earned three year trophies. Thirty-one of 58 team members lettered.

With 22 sophomores and 14 juniors able to return next year, Head Coach Didich and assistants Bill Lobb and Bob Montgomery will have excellent talent with which to work.

Rain hampered the tennis team, as far as postponed matches, but not their spirit. Before the official season began, the netters made trips to the Lima Tennis Club, thanks to the FHS Booster's Club.

Under Coach Hoover, the team finished a long season with a 6-8 won-lost record. They also finished in a three-way tie for second place in the tough Buckeye Conference.

At the team picnic banquet, Mooney Lovell was honored with the Most Valuable Player award. He won his final seven matches, finishing with a 10-5 record. Senior Lovell also earned a trophy for lettering three years. Other players were also honored with second year awards: Bob Scully, Brent Snook, and Greg Wyant. Seniors Gary Maddock and Bob Mihaly earned first year awards. First year certificates were received by Steve Abell, Jim McBride, Dan English, Mike Faris, Joel Gallather, Scott Lather and Andy Powell.

Led by captains Harry Hall, Jim Brockman and Joe Benjamin, the 1973 Trojans came through the season with a 10-6 won-lost reeord. The diamondmen did especially well by finishing the regular season with wins for the last six games, after a rather slow start in the spring. At the baseball team's banquet, Harry Hall received Most Valuable Player honors. Hall was also the team's best hitter, with a batting average of .428. Ed Bader was presented with the top fielding award.

After losing many players from the previous year, Coach Curlis and the 1973 baseball team is to be commended for a fine season and a great deal of effort, which contributed to their overall success for the year.

Pitcher Mark Browne contemplates the situation, winds up for the pitch, and throws another strike to help put the Trojans on the road to victory.

Through Spring Season

Run, Carol, Run!!!

Andrea Westerhausen smiles her way over the hurdles.

Spring brought a continued sports program for the girls at Findlay High. The track team participated interscholastically, while interested tennis players competed on an intramural level.

The thinclads (not so much so in this case), practiced for three meets. In the opening meet, they earned a second place against Marion Harding and third place Delaware Hayes. The team lost a meet to Fremont, then took second in a four-team meet, losing to Van Wert. Carol Adams appeared to be the most outstanding team member, taking either a first or second place in the 50 and 100 yard dashes, softball throw and assisting in the 440 yard relay team.

The tennis intramural program climaxed with a mixed doubles tournament. Amy Saunders, Diane Kyle, Lauree Smith, Susi Chesebro, Nancy Gray, and Mary Masters joined forces with the boys' team. Unfortunately, Miss Kennedy and Mr. Hoover, as a team, won the tournament, with Miss Bole and Mr. Perrine as the runners-up.

A new Ohio High School state rule states that females are now legally allowed to participate in non-contact sports, including cross-country. Already six girls have indicated an interest in Mr. Didich's program. Good luck, gals!

In an effort to make FHS's Letterman Club more representative of sports at FHS and more of a club striving to serve both the school and community, Varsity F drew up a new constitution. Some projects this year that were undertaken by our athletes were the Varsity F Dance, the Easter Egg Hunt, the first presentations of Honorary Varsity F memberships, overnights, and initiations.

"Boy, I wish they'd tell me about these Varsity F meetings sooner!?!"

Bill Slack, FHS sports commentator and broadcaster, was made an honorai Varsity F member as was Mr. John Taylor for their service thai promotes FH sports. Mr. Taylor spends many hours each year selling tickets for FHS spor events.

In an effort to reach and serve everyone, Key Club undertook more than ten projects this year. Programs were sold at games to raise money so other projects would be possible. Car Rallies were held and enjoyed by all: a Christmas tree was floated in the old reservoir; a foot bridge was built over the ditch to the parking lot; and a football game was held with the "girls' club." Also, members attended conventions and lunches at Kiwanis Meetings, collected cans of food for needy families at Christmas, made a float for the Homecoming parade, and chose Sue Brandman as their Key Club Sweetheart. The purpose of Key Club, to be a service club, was certainly well proven this year! Mr. Mike VonStein was advisor of Key Club.

At Christmas time, cans of food were brought into homerooms by students for needy families. Key Club coordinated this activity and collected all the cans in boxes which were loaded into a car for the Salvation Army to distribute.

After an outstanding advertising campaign, more color pages and other special features were added to this year's TROJAN. But money can't be given all the credit for the improved yearbook. The time put in by all the staff members--working on layouts, writing copy, having pictures taken, plus all the work involved in the very successful subscription drive-- was also very important and helped create a feeling of pride in a job well done.

A Study in Creativity

Cheryl Jones displays her abilities in ring casting.

Art students at Findlay are exposed to a wide variety of experiences: from casting jewelry to portrait painting; from pottery to political posters; to water colors, tempera, sculpture, weaving, and many others. Young artists contributed illustrations to CONTRAST MAGAZINE, made backdrops for "Fiddler on the Roof," and some even had their faces covered with plaster to make death masks. The atmosphere in the department is casual, but there is a lot of competition and a great deal of work is accomplished. This year, students won prizes and exhibited their work at Regional Scholastics in Toledo, National Scholastics in New York, the Governor's Show in Columbus, the WBGU Television Station, the downtown stores, and at their own FHS Student Art Show.

The mademoiselles practiced a long time for their skit, just ask them . . .

1973, for the Language Department at FHS, was a year for great excitement. The French classes surpassed last year's travel to Montreal and spent a glorious week in Paris. To summarize all their wonderful experiences would be impossible. Just ask one question of a French student and you'll surely hear hours of details. (Be sure to ask Nancy and Deb if they ever got sleepy and how Lauree liked the French wine.)

Despite some turmoil created in Student Council, the Latin students received $25.00 for each $100.00 they earned. And after many bake sales, they found themselves standing at the base of one of the most famous architectural wonders of all time: The Leaning Tower of Pisa. The persons involved in the tour too, enjoyed and profited from their travels abroad. From what we hear, no one slept too much, but then again who'd want to sleep in Rome?

The Spanish classes couldn't possibly be outdone, and when last seen, Mr. Frost was still quite busy planning with the travel agencies for the summer Mexico trip. Plans included a two week tour of the Mexico City area.

All the chaperons and administration involved, deserve an extra special thanks for their planning and efforts. 1973 was possibly the beginning of a new era for language studies at FHS. And for those of us who never made it to the Eiffel Tower, Pisa, or to see the Aztec ruins, it was still a very profitable year.

's portrayal of Tevye, the complaining but brave and lovable dairyman, was said to have been Broadway iber.

We lived another life; an old and turbulent life in Czarist Russia. I had the privdege of raising "five charming daughters," marrying an unpredictable Russian woman, and running a dairy farm in the impoverished peasant town of Anatevka.

The Cast grew into a family which, during rehearsals, cared ordy for the other actor's problem. Enemies laid aside knives during those eight weeks. Friendships to last a lifetime were made. This is part of what made the show so memorable for those involved.

Next most important is an almost too powerful script. One can hardly go wrong with such a magnificent play. Many were the times Kim Weitz and I would still be crying long after her farewell scene was past. Most of the performers had similar, almost frightening experiences. Through these experiences we realized each other's potential and how good the show might be. But even more, we realized the feeling, the spirit, the Jewish people we portrayed, brought to this world: the fierce desire that life must go on, God willing.

Most likely our biggest problem was attitude. At the beginning most of us were ordy mildly interested, but as the show progressed everyone lived, breathed, and slept the show almost twenty-four hours a day. It was still quite a challenge though for Mr. Jefferies, Mrs. Gebhardt, and Mrs. Firmin to bring a high school group up to the professional level the show demanded. And they did accomplish just that, from the orchestra to the bottle dancers.

FIDDLER ON THE ROOF was an experience I'll never forget. This is my only real chance to thank every one involved; from the directors to my "Fiddler" family to the audience. Thank you all.

As Motel would say, "It was a miracle."

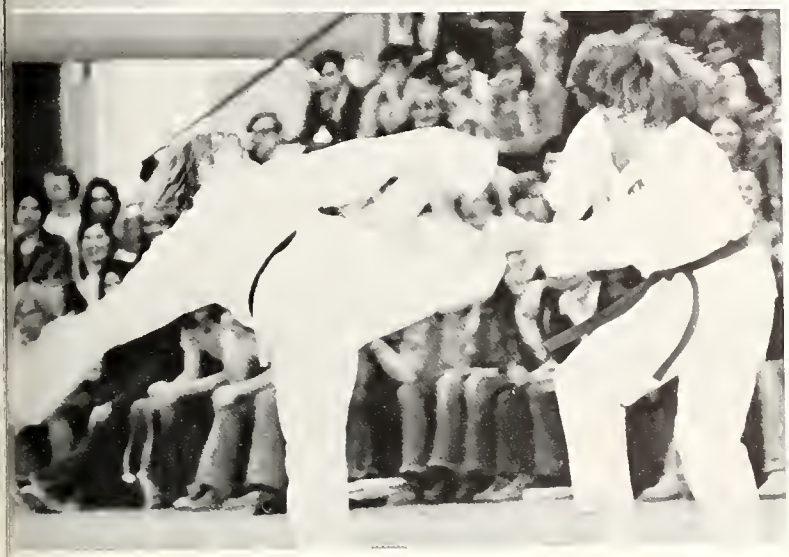
A slow motion demonstration in process.



Preparing for the kick . . . the kick.

In May, several Karate experts (Mike Patton and Kevin Caudil, as well as a few students selected from the audience as aides) demonstrated this particular method of self defense. As can be seen in this pictoral description, the self discipline of an individual's muscle coordination, agility and forethought are vital to a successful follow-through. The event was Student Council sponsored.

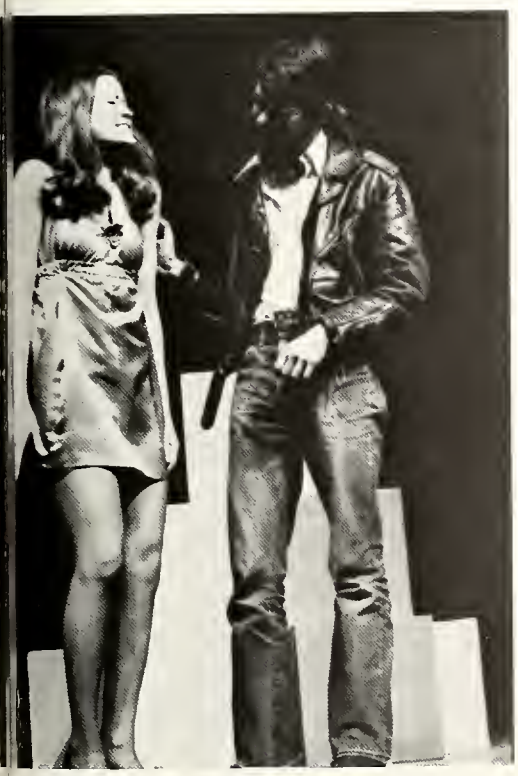
Student Directors



"Hi! My name's Chris and I just told Becky's secret."

The "one acts" this year were under complete student direction. Mrs. Gebhardt said, "It was often hard to keep my mouth shut, but I did just that, and consequently I was known as the "snoopervisor!" But regardless, as anticipated, the student directors did an overwhelming job and produced three entertaining plays. The first, "Coming Through the Rye," dealt with the concept of birth in a very original manner. All of the characters were at the age they were when they died. There's just one catch--they hadn't been born yet. They had the factual knowledge of their lives, but lacked the experience. The second play, "Of You and Me," dealt with the concept of identity in a very abstract manner. The two characters were separated by a wall and are very slow to learn what makes the other one special. The third play, "Glory in The Flower" dealt with a more advanced stage of life. Jackie Bowen had had a rather bitter experience of being jilted and then having to grow up. This play was highlighted by some glimpses of the corner hang out and authentic 50's dancing and costumes.

"The Wizard of Oz" came to the Findlay High gym on May 18, 1973. Delighted visitors progressed through the magic land on a yellow brick road that started at Munchkin Town and went past scarecrow, tinman, lion, apple trees, and the witch's castle. The road ended in a field of poppies in front of Emerald City. From the Wizard's balloon, which was inflated by 2500 small colored balloons all inscribed with the date and occasion, the band played. Newcomers entered the gym through Dorothy's house–and were surprised to find the Wicked Witch of the East's red and white striped feet complete even to the ruby slippers under the porch. Following the sign "To Kansas," guests were served by sophomore Munchkins in the bewitched castle-like cafeteria.

Roger Edelbrock was chairman for the entire event. Jim Niemeyer and Robin Curlis chaired the fund-raising activities. Chairman of decorations, Beth Rooney, was ably assisted by junior advisors, Bruce Patterson and Joan Cunningham. Chairman of refreshments was Kathy Boyko. Fern Decker was responsible for the special lighting provided. The junior carpentry class built the house and bridges. In total, 125 juniors helped to make the 1973 Prom memorable and they certainly succeeded. For long after the prom was over many were clombing over rainbows with the mere thought of that make-believe evening in May.

Amy Williams was one of the first to receive her diploma.

The graduating class of 1973 continued with its tradition of being untraditional in a combined Baccalaureate-Commencement Ceremony, June 3. In addition the diplomas were presented in reverse alphabetical order. The speakers, too kept in stride highlighted by a magnificent presentation of Chris's speech, "The War of Independence, 1973," followed by Anne, who insisted "Take Your Time." Ted spoke on "A Time For Peace," and Jenny closed the presentations with "Tomorrow." Despite the hopes for an outdoor program, poor weather intervened and graduation was held in the very warm FHS Gymnasium. But regardless of untraditional, warm, happy or sad, the ceremony was over as fast as the year had gone. Blue and gold caps flew into the air and 73ers rushed to get out of the school building for the last time. Yet many lingered and walked slowly together for a last look at the now empty gym, for the year was really over now, twelve years were over . . . . . .

If I but had your faith
I would not cringe
Nor hide from pallid death.
I'd fill my skirt with hyacinths
And take them to my Lord.

If I but had your faith,
I would not doubt
That God had filled for me
A cup of bitterness and gall
To prove my victory.

If I but had your faith,
I would not faint
When darkness looms ahead.
The rocks would melt, the stars
would flame,
And I would find my way.

If I but had your faith,
I would not weep
Nor let my loved ones mourn.
I'd open wide the doors of home
And celebrate the dawn.

Trifle

Against the day of sorrow
Lay by some trifling thing.
Asmile, akiss, aflower
For sweet remembering.

Then when the day is darkest
Without one rift of blue
Take out your little trifle
And dream your dream anew.

How much living have you done?
From it the patterns that you weave
Are imaged:
Your own life is your totem pole
Your yard of cloth,
Your living.

How much loving have you done?
How full and free your giving?
For living is but loving
And loving only giving.

"My chair is falling!" states Mark Borckardt.

This year brought many new responsibilities . . . competition and pressure among students increased . . . this was the first year I strived to succeed in education . . . for the first time outside activities began to be more important to me than a lot of my schoolwork . . . you learned how to make it or you could forget it . . . teachers were some of the best I've had . . . more homework . . . it was a time to make decisions for the future.

"Looks interesting, huh, Brad?"

I'll lend you for a little while,
A child of mine, he said.
For you to love the while he lives,
And mourn when he is dead.
It may be six or seven years, or 22 or 3,
But will you, for what time he has,
Take care of him for me.
He'll bring his charms to gladden you
And should his day be brief,
You'll have his lovely memories
As solace in your grief.
I cannot promise he will stay
Since all from earth return
But there are lessons taught down there
I've looked this wide world over
In my search for teachers true
And from the throngs that crowd life's lanes
I have selected you.
Now will you give him all your love
Nor think that labor vain,
Nor hate me when I come to call,
To take him back again.
I fancy that I heard them say
Dear Lord, thy will be done.
For all the joy thy child can bring
The risk of grief we'll run.
We'll shelter him with tenderness
And love him while we may,
And for the happiness we have known,
Forever grateful stay.
And should death call for him,
Much sooner than we have planned,
We will brave the bitter grief, that comes,
And try to understand.

It wasn't bad, was it?
The days and years we spent together,
We've learned to live and love together . . .
Though it wasn't always fun.
Yet we prayed for that big day to come.
So many times we wanted to quit . . .
and wondered, "What's the use?"
But, everyday we tried again and sometimes even won.
Still we prayed for that big day to come.
Inside, we quietly wondered:
"What in the world will become of us when that big day has come and gone?"
The Homecoming dance, Winter Formal and even the prom . . .
The banners, songs and promises . . .
The new loves and the old ones . . .
They have come and gone like the wind
But now we can look back and realize since it's almost gone . . .
It wasn't bad, was it?

I'm going away with my friend;
We'll Saturday spend till the end

"We need those men and women who are trained in the liberal arts tradition—those whose minds are drawn to the larger questions of society's future and its well-being."

—John J. Powers, Jr.
former president and board chairman of Pfizer International

Rapid change, flexibility, and the need to find original solutions to unique problems—that's what the future looks like to many people. What role will you play? It's hard to imagine. Be sure of one thing. Considering the pace of change, what you learn now and throughout college is likely to be outdated by the time you go to use it. Industry says they can train a person in six months for the job they want. What they need are people who can adapt, who have a broad background on which to build a good sense of judgment.

It's in the liberal arts tradition that you are challenged to find out who you are, what you consider important, why you act the way you do. And the most effective creative people are those who understand themselves.

At Findlay College your education is built around the liberal studies program—courses that challenge you to answer the questions of values, personal goals, society's direction. Findlay College prepares its students not merely for tomorrow, but for a lifetime of learning.

Give your future some serious thought. Think about what contribution you want to make to your world. And if you decide that a liberal arts education is for you, think about Findlay College. We'll be happy to send you more information. Write to the director of admissions or call (419) 422-8313. We can arrange campus tours or an overnight weekend visit.

What your job competition tomorrow... will be wearing this year

Consider this — employers know how valuable Air Force training is. The finest schools teach top-pay skills like jet engine mechanic, electronic data processing, avionics, accountant and hundreds of other technical and administrative specialties. Are you willing to let the other guy have all this — plus good pay, paid vacations, the very best of medical care and travel and excitement, too. Get the jump on your competition — See your Air Force Recruiter for the full story.

As another year closes, we have put aside one mo small part of our lives. But it can never be complete forgotten. We will always look back on the many me ories, happy and sad alike.

It is my hope that the 1973 TROJAN will help remember all that we have experienced this year. Wheth in sports, music, clubs, activities, or just school life general, we can all search out a piece of ourselves, almost forgotten experience, a good time with a friend very special moment.

We, the staff of the TROJAN, have tried to collect th and give it back to you, that you might give it the ve individual meaning it holds for you alone. Special than must go to Paul and Duane, our Anchor representativ and to the advisors and staff that put this all together.

Now, we give this book to you, as a memento of our pasts, but we ask you to keep these memories whe they must be kept--in the past--and look ahead to t future that awaits.

Nancy
